

Central for NEOMUNE is the Management Group, chaired by the centre director Per Sangild. The Management Group is supported by the academic administration and technical secretaries, and interacts closely with the Scientific Advisory Board and Governing Board. Each Management Group member is assigned as chair person for a specific work package or a central research field. For key persons within each work package or research field, please refer to the description of the work packages.